FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

IMED DONATES NURSING SCHOLARSHIP TO USD

Richard Cramer, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of IMED Corporation, has awarded the University of San Diego's Philip Y. Hahn School of Nursing a full nursing scholarship of $4,500. According to Cramer, who presented the award in person to USD President Author E. Hughes and to Dr. Irene S. Palmer, dean of the School, the award was made to demonstrate IMED's commitment to the nursing profession. Evening students pursuing the master's of science in nursing will be the beneficiaries.

In accepting the scholarship funds, Dr. Hughes described IMED's gift as "exemplary of corporate citizenship and the natural bond that exists between private enterprise and private higher education."

IMED's scholarship is the first corporate gift made to the USD Auxiliary Fashion Show, to be presented by Bullock's Fashion Valley at the Del Mar race track on October 1. The show is held annually to enhance student financial aid funds at the University. Mr. Cramer became aware of the purpose of the event through the efforts of Doug Ramberger and Mrs. John (Phyllis) Parrish, fashion show chairman.

IMED is a privately-held international manufacturer of electronic infusion instruments and associated disposal administration sets used for administering intravenous solutions to hospital patients.

The Philip Y. Hahn School of Nursing, founded in 1974, enables the registered nurse to obtain a baccalaureate and graduate degree in nursing. The master's degree program was inaugurated in 1977, and was the first such program offered in the San Diego area. The School is one of four professional schools at the University of San Diego, a private Catholic university.
